RE: Support for SB 562 – Extension of Medicaid eligibility for postpartum women

Chairwoman Felzkowski and members of the committee, thank you for the opportunity to share testimony with you today. My name is Mike Boeder and I’d like to share Children’s Wisconsin’s (Children’s) support for this important, bipartisan legislation. I’ll be sharing perspectives on behalf of a number of providers and departments at Children’s, including as part of my role as the executive director of health plan operations for Children’s Community Health Plan, an affiliate of Children’s Wisconsin.

Children’s Wisconsin’s vision is to have Wisconsin kids be the healthiest in the nation and in striving to achieve this ambitious vision, we recognize that most of the drivers of a child’s health and well-being are often reflected in the social, cultural and environmental factors that surround a child and their family. Studies continue to reflect the impact of a mother’s health on her baby’s health and the strong connection between the two. The health and well-being of a mother from pre-pregnancy to postpartum has implications on a child’s physical, cognitive and social-emotional development. One of the many ways to promote health among children and their moms is to ensure that families have access to timely and appropriate health care services.

The Medicaid program plays a significant role in maternal health, covering more than one-third of births in Wisconsin in 2019. Health care before and during a pregnancy are, of course, critically important. However the postpartum period is especially vulnerable for moms. Having consistent, reliable access to health care helps ensure a mother can get the physical, mental and emotional health care supports she needs to ensure she and her baby are healthy and thriving. In addition, pregnancy-related complications can surface days to weeks to months after delivery, with maternal morbidity and mortality continuing to be of significant concern across the nation and here in Wisconsin. It’s disheartening that women of color and those living in rural areas face significantly higher rates of preventable maternal injury and death resulting in disparities with lasting impacts for families across our state.

While we appreciate the recent extension in postpartum Medicaid health care coverage from 60 days to 90 days in Wisconsin, this length of coverage simply isn’t adequate to promote safety, health and well-being for Wisconsin women and their families. 12 months of continuous coverage for postpartum individuals represents a great step forward in ensuring continuity of coverage so enrollees can avoid disruptions in care and continue to have access to high quality health services. In addition, this continuous coverage offers opportunities to streamline administrative functions for the Medicaid program and reduce unnecessary churn for postpartum individuals. On the federal level, recent passage of the American Rescue Plan Act provided for continuous Medicaid and CHIP coverage for pregnant and postpartum individuals through twelve months after giving birth on a temporary basis. Children’s is very encouraged by this bipartisan legislation here in Wisconsin to offer this coverage on a permanent basis to promote health and well-being amongst mothers and their children.

As some of you may know, Children’s provides home visiting services across the state to support at-risk parents, during a pregnancy through the first five years of the child’s life, to reduce the likelihood of child maltreatment and to strengthen family functioning. Visits occur in the home on a frequent basis to provide education on topics like pregnancy, reproductive health, child development, safe sleep and offer guidance on navigating the often complex food and child assistance systems.

Family preservation and support programs address the needs of the family as a whole, delivering services in their homes, neighborhoods and communities to help promote positive development and prevent adverse outcomes. Parents and families gain new competencies, make family-community connections and improve child health, well-being and family functioning. In 2020, Children's served nearly 800 families across the state through home visiting.

In addition, Children's, along with a coalition of several community partners, is implementing the Milwaukee County Healthy Start Program which supports maternal-child health for African American women. As part of the five-year federal grant, Children's and our partners are providing maternal community health navigation services, child birth education classes, group-based parenting classes, ensuring access to maternal care providers, including midwives, as well as providing fatherhood-specific programming and other resources.

For moms and families that we serve, both in our home visiting and Healthy Start programs, having continuous access to Medicaid coverage would enable moms to afford the regular medical care they need. One client came to our program five months postpartum after delivering a beautiful baby girl, no longer having insurance and having developed a few health issues. She had an intrauterine device (IUD) placed after delivery that had shifted causing severe discomfort and pain. After she delivered her daughter, her vision had declined significantly and she desperately needed an eye exam to ensure she could safely care for and support herself and her daughter. If her Medicaid coverage had been extended 12 months, she wouldn't have to endure these health issues and could have addressed them much sooner.

Thank you for the opportunity to share Children's Wisconsin's support for this important piece of legislation that would improve maternal and infant health outcomes for families across Wisconsin. Our team is happy to answer any questions you may have through our contact information below.
