Mobile Help: Video/Audio Troubleshooting

I am having video problems.

I cannot see my doctor or the image is poor.
Let your doctor know you cannot see them, if your audio is working.
They may need to adjust their settings or change the lighting in the room.

My doctor cannot see me or the image is poor.
• Toggle the camera view to front facing and back again.
• Ensure you are connected to strong WiFi.
• Leave meeting and try to reconnect through MyChart.
• Check your Zoom settings to be sure you are joining with video.

Note: If you are 15 minutes past your originally scheduled visit time, you will not be able to reconnect. Contact the provider’s office to reschedule.

I am seeing a black screen.
You likely have a poor WiFi connection or blocked WiFi. Try to connect on cellular data.
If you are using cellular data in a low signal area, it may prevent video streaming.

I cannot hear my doctor.
• Let your doctor know you cannot hear them. They may need to adjust their settings or use a headset.
• Adjust your device’s volume, and make sure it is not on mute.
• Try a headset or headphones.

Note: If your internet audio is not working well, you can choose “More” at the bottom right > “Disconnect Audio” and try dialing into the meeting through your phone by choosing “Join Audio” again at the bottom.
I hear an echo or delays in audio.
• Try a headset or headphones.

Check your internet connection.
Ensure that you have a strong WiFi signal and connection. Some visual problems can be caused by a slow connection.

Why a good Internet connection is important
A slow internet connection can cause problems with video and audio. Please join your video visit with the strongest connection possible.

How to improve your connection speed
• Connect using WiFi rather than your mobile network. A WiFi connection is stronger and more reliable.
• Close other applications not being used by video visits.
• Move closer to your router if you are using wireless.
• Limit access to your wireless network if it is shared with others.
