

Pharmacy Residents

Kids deserve the best.

Emily Willey, PharmD (PGY-2)

Post-Graduate Training: PGY-1 at Children's Wisconsin

Pharmacy Education: University of Wisconsin – Madison School of Pharmacy

Why Pediatrics? I chose pediatric pharmacy because of the clinical decision making involved in a more “gray” area of pharmacy with fewer guidelines/data as well as the resilience of children makes it a very rewarding career.

What have you enjoyed about residency at CW: I have enjoyed my residency at Children's Wisconsin because of the patient populations I get to work with, the flexibility of the program, and the people I interact with every day. I feel valued as a member of the inter-professional team where my recommendations are both sought after and appreciated. I also value the opportunity to work with preceptors who motivate me and support me in reaching my personal and professional goals

Shay Groth, PharmD (PGY-1)

Pharmacy Education: Medical College of Wisconsin – School of Pharmacy

Why Pediatrics? I have always enjoyed working with children. In the pharmacy practice I enjoy working in the gray area where there's not always a guideline to follow. I also find the atmosphere of a pediatric hospital, especially Children's Wisconsin, to be welcoming and makes me excited to be at work every day.

What have you enjoyed about residency at CW: I have enjoyed getting to practice as a pharmacist and getting to learn more about pediatric medicine. My favorite part of my residency so far has been the opportunities I have had working on medication preparation and improvements to current medication formulations.

Alyssa Weber, PharmD (PGY-1)

Pharmacy Education: University of Iowa – College of Pharmacy

Why Pediatrics? I chose pediatrics because it allows me to practice at the top of my license. I get to make clinical decisions in an area that is constantly evolving, which endorses lifelong learning. On top of that, I get to work with the most resilient children!

What have you enjoyed about residency at CW: I've enjoyed Children's Wisconsin because I get the opportunity to learn from preceptors who are so passionate about both their patients and their learners. I'm supported personally and professionally by everyone here. Through training at a Level 1 Trauma Center and having the flexibility to complete a variety of elective experiences, CW will give me the skills necessary to succeed as a clinical pediatric pharmacist.
